

What's new in nursing?

If you have questions about this message, please contact us.

Please do not reply directly to this email as replies are routed to an unmonitored mailbox.

Latest healthcare news

Dear Melissa,

Taking a look in the crystal ball

With a prestigious qualification already under your belt, the world really is your oyster. But when there are so many exciting developments and opportunities in the healthcare sector, it can be hard to know which way to turn.

At times like this a crystal ball would come in handy – but since we live in the real world, we thought we'd have a look at what's new in nursing and share some of the best stories with you.

From making better use of innovation to harnessing the potential of robots, they all show how blue skies thinking can change the NHS for the better. We hope they pique your interest, and perhaps inspire you to do a bit of blue skies thinking yourself, about how you could take your career up to the next level.

What's new in nursing?

Read the latest news >

Ask us a question >

Why stop here?

Did you know that you could count the credit you have attained on the Mary Seacole programme towards a masters qualification with the OU?

Currently there are three options available to you:

MSc in Advancing Healthcare Practice

Contribute to the advancement of healthcare and boost your career.

Find out more >

MBA (Healthcare Leadership)

Strengthen your leadership and management capabilities in healthcare.

Find out more >

MSc in Development Management

Build your capacity for managing the development of healthcare organisations.

Find out more >